Hamilton Furniture Wagon Detained For A While.

Driver Secures Goods But Can Not Haul Them Out Through Gate of Yard.

TELEPHONES ARE KEPT BUSY

"I am out here by Wallace park in a yard and they won't let me out the gate," was the plaint of Elmer Barnes, driver for E. F. Hamilton, furniture dealer, who called up Chief of Police Collins this morning.

Then he explained:
"I came out to a house by the park and loaded some furniture on my wagon. Then the lady of the house closed the gate and said I did not dare open it. Here I am with the furniture on my wagon but I can't get out the gate with it. What shall I do?"

"Call up 'Squire Emery or the sheriff," suggested Chief Collins and hung up the phone.

Meanwhile the lady in question had talked to Magistrate Emery, who told her the man could not take the furniture without formally foreclosing his chattel mortgage. She acted on his advice and closed the gate, supposing the driver would unload the furniture and drive away.

However, the driver took the warning literally and he thought the lady had assumed authority of lien on his wagon just he had in regard to the furniture.

The furniture house sold the furniture on credit reserving a mortgage lien. It is customary when the people do not pay to go after the furniture, and frequently the purchaser delivers the goods, without question, but on this occasion the gate was closed.

The driver was obdurate and declined to surrender the furniture after he had once obtained physical possession of it. The woman was equally insistent, and, while the first clash took place this morning, this afternoon Mr. Hamilton went to the scene of battle to relieve the driver, who was getting hungry, yet dared not leave his advantage.

NO MAIL FOR UGLY DOG OWNER

St. Louis Postmaster Issues Order to Protect Letter Carriers.

St. Louis, Nov. 27.—Postmaster Frank Wyman has just announced that mail addressed to persons who harbor snapping dogs will be held up. The order was issued as a result of the experience of Letter Carrier George L. Wood, who had so often been attacked that he armed himself. The next time a dog made for him he drew the gun, but as did so a woman raised a window and Wood refrained from shooting. The woman, however, entered a complaint against him.

AUTHOR GEO. W. CABLE WEDS

Bride Is Miss Eva C. Stevenson, Lexington, Ky., Social Leader.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—George W. Cable, writer of romances and painter of word pictures imbued with the spirit of southern chivalry, was married at noon today in Old Christ church to Miss Eva C. Stevenson of Lexington, Ky. Their romance began at a reading before the Woman's club of Lexington, of which Miss Stevenson was president. She had been interested in his stories and was captivated by Mr. Cable's interpretation of them.

Former Paducah Girl Burned.
Mr. Harry Judd, the well known Illinois Central pattern maker, this morning received news that his cousin, Miss Ethel Yates, of Lima, O., was seriously burned by gasoline and in a hospital in that city. She is the daughter of Mr. J. H. Yates, formerly foreman of the Illinois Central blacksmith shops here.

EXILES TO SIBERIA.
Warsaw, Nov. 27.—Exile of political offenders to Siberia has commenced again, despite claims by the government that more leniency will be shown such transgression. Three hundred exiles were forwarded last night to northern Russia.

THREE MILLION IN BACK TAXES

Will Be Demanded of the Illinois Central Directors by State of Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 27.—Gov. Deenen left today for New York where he will attend the meeting of the directors of the Illinois Central railroad of which he is an ex-officio one. Judge Dickinson, counsel for the Illinois Central, will at this meeting present the claim of the state of Illinois for some $3,000,000 back taxes, and Gov. Deenen will be in attendance in order to answer questions regarding the claim.

STREET CARS

WILL RUN OUT JEFFERSON ON OLD SCHEDULE.

Force at Work Paving Between Tracks Stops Traffic South of Fifth Street.

This morning an amicable settlement was reached in regard to the street car schedule on West Jefferson street.

"At present we have arranged to run the three cars on the Broadway line to the park," Manager John S. Blecker explained, "and as nearly on a 12-minute schedule as possible. Cars on this line will go no further than Fifth street on account of the torn up tracks. We will maintain this schedule until our lines are all repaired and open and we are rushing the work with an increased force of laborers."

This morning no street cars are running on the South Sixth Trimble, Jackson and Broadway lines below Fifth street on Broadway. Contractors today began spreading concrete between the double tracks, and traffic on the block from Fourth street to Fifth street will be suspended until the work is finished, which may be three days.

FLUSH GUTTERS

BOARD OF HEALTH BELIEVES IN USE OF WATER.

From May 1 to October 1, at Least, Thorough Cleaning Should Be the Rule.

Dr. J. G. Brooks and Mr. James P. Sleeth, the druggist, were selected at a meeting of the board of health last evening, as a committee to investigate methods of flushing gutters and to report back to the board of health. The board members think that gutters in Paducah are not flushed often enough to prevent disease breeding in the foul accumulations. If a plan is adopted, it is desired to flush the gutters only from May 1 to October 1.

Both sanitary inspectors were instructed to continue their operations and an ordinance making these positions permanent, is being drafted.

FARMERS FOR EQUAL SUFFRAGE

National Grange Patrons of Husbandry Want Women to Vote.

Denver, Nov. 27.—A move toward the extension of the suffrage was made today when the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, adopted a resolution in favor of permitting women to vote not only at state elections in such states as may so provide, but permitting them to vote equally with men for national officials. The resolution was introduced by J. A. Newcomb, master of the state grange of Colorado, and was passed unanimously. It was decided to establish a weekly paper to be devoted entirely to the interests of the grange.

Resolutions in favor of tariff revision were adopted. A graduated income tax, uniform state laws regarding assessments and a collateral inheritance tax were also favored. The pure food laws already in force were indorsed and a demand made for more national legislation along the same line.

There is only one kind of a newspaper circulation statement that is worth any consideration and that is the daily detailed statement. The Sun is the only Paducah paper printing such a statement.

BEST PIKE ROADS IN THIS SECTION

Are Those of McCracken, Say Traveling Men.

Only $300 Loss During Heavy Rains and Not a Bridge Washed Away
By Floods.

HIGHWAYS WERE NOT DAMAGED

McCracken county roads are the best in western Kentucky. This is an assertion backed up by testimony from dozens of traveling men, persons in position to know.

McCracken county roads suffered less than $300 damage from the recent heavy rains, and were passable within a few hours after the rains ceased. This is the statement made by County Road Supervisor Bert Johnson, who has just completed a tour of the county and has all data. "Not one bridge did we have washed away, yet the creeks were raging torrents for days," he declared. "The only way the county will suffer is in the washing away of portions of dirt roads in the loss of a few small wooden culverts. The rains were the heaviest, and damage the lightest since I have been in office."

"Why, drummers tell me that they had to come to Paducah after the rain stopped and work McCracken county first. They failed to get ten miles out on county seats in Graves, Carlisle, Ballard, Fulton and other western Kentucky counties. They say that McCracken county roads are the best in west Kentucky."

Complete Scale Map.

A complete scale map of the county showing all creeks, bridges, culverts, dirt and gravel roads, proposed roads and closed roads was this morning finished by County Road Supervisor Bert Johnson and a copy of it given to the county clerk. It was made for the road supervisor's benefit but the one given the county clerk was presented complimentary that official needing such a map urgently at times.

ESTABLISHED AT NORTONVILLE BY TOWN PEOPLE.

Has Capital Stock of $15,000 and Will Have New Building—
Town Booming.

Nortonville has a new state bank with a capitalization of $15,000. Mr. Morton, a well known citizen of that place, is president. Local capital is interested. Nortonville has taken on an air of prosperity of late and two or three new factories are located there. This is the only bank in that section of Hopkins county. A new building for the institution will be erected.

LOOKING AFTER TRAFFIC.

Congestion of Freight Here Interests Mr. Keith.

Mr. O. S. Keith, general superintendent of transportation of the Illinois Central, paid Paducah a personal visit this morning. He came to investigate the condition of traffic on the south end, and particularly into the congested condition of freight in Paducah yards.

MATHOT ON WARPATH.

Says Many Men Have Been Caught
at Game of Caruso's.

New York, Nov. 27.—Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot declares that a bishop, ministers, a banker and professional men of all classes have been caught at the same game that caused the arrest of Caruso.

Grace Brown Was Murdered.
Herkimer, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Dr. O. A. Douglas of Little Falls, one of the physicians who examined the autopsy on Grace Brown's body, testified today that the injuries found on the body were inflicted before death. He testified that the tennis racket that Gillette buried, and which the sheriff found, was capable of producing the abrasions and other injuries found on the body.

TONS OF BRICK FALL DOWN THREE STORIES

FROM KOLB BUILDING

Tons of brick and plaster fell with a crash from the top of the new three story Kolb building, just nearing completion on North Third street opposite Harbour, about 1:20 o'clock this afternoon. The brick masons were just finishing up the cornice on top of the front, when the whole mass gave away. The men were on a platform behind the wall, and fortunately no one was below, so the damage was limited to the building itself. The loss will be about $2,000. Thirteen cornices, weighing 200 pounds each, and several smaller ones were included in the debris. The work would have been completed this week. This accident will delay the building about three weeks. It is supposed the cornices were out of plumb. The rest of the building is sound. It is to be occupied by Kolb & Sons, wholesale druggists.

CABINET MEETING FULL OF INTEREST

President Talks of His Trip To Panama

Metcalf Reports on Alleged Indignities to Japanese and Shaw on Silver Trust.

FATTENING ON GOVERNMENT.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The meeting of the cabinet today was interesting. Part of the time was taken up by the president's account of his trip to Panama and Porto Rico. Secretary of Commerce and Labor Metcalf reported on the alleged indignities offered Japanese in San Francisco. Secretary Shaw told how the American Smelting and Refining company, otherwise known as the silver trust, is trying to fatten itself at the expense of the government by boosting the price of silver smelted for subsidiary coinage.

Special Message.
It is officially announced at the White House today that the president will send a special message to congress shortly after the opening, dealing with the situation on the isthmus of Panama. He prepared much data on the return voyage and expects to finish it within a week.

GAME THANKSGIVING ATTRACTS LOCAL ATTENTION.

High School and R. L. C.'s Contest Paducah Championship on the Gridiron.

With Thanksgiving a holiday the largest crowd ever on Wallace park gridiron to see a football game is expected next Thursday when the High school and R. L. C. teams meet.

The High school will come fresh from a brilliant victory last Friday over Hopkinsville and the R. L. C.'s, having beaten Mayfield, also may be expected to be confident. In the game between the two teams several weeks ago the High school team beat the R. L. C.'s with a score of 17 to 0. Both teams will struggle hard, the one to maintain a reputation, the other to redeem itself.

The line-up for both teams Thursday, subject to changes from the exigencies of the moment will be:

High School—Cheek, Cave, Scott, Elliott, Burton, Reeder, Bagby, Halley, St. John, Fisher, Jones.
R. L. C.'s—Bayer, Wickliffe, Hayes, Elliott, Cope, Coburn, Orme, Owen, Henneberger, Martin, Kidd, Sights.

MISSIONARIES IN DANGER.

Property Being Pillaged by Chinese at Lienchow.

Hong Kong, Nov. 27.—Advices from Canton report a recrudescence of anti-missionary feeling at Lienchow, where some property has been pillaged. The American consul has asked the viceroy to enforce protection of the missionaries and their property.

COMPANY ENJOYS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Meyer, Schmid & Clark Stock- holders Meet.

Only Change Will Be to Promote Charles De Werthera From City Salesman.

NEARLY A MILLION DOLLARS.

After a most successful year, the stockholders of the Meyer, Schmid & Clark company, wholesale grocers, held a meeting yesterday afternoon and adopted plans for the ensuing year, beginning December 1. The company's business will amount to three-quarters of a million dollars.

Mr. George A. Meyers, of St. Louis, head of the concern, who has over a dozen large wholesale grocery houses in the country, attended the meeting and expressed satisfaction with the way business looks.

"We are doing well," he said, "and the prospects for next year are promising. Affairs are in good shape and our nine salesmen, as well as the office force, seem to have the welfare of the house at heart. I never saw more loyalty. The most of them were at the meeting yesterday."

Mr. Meyer returned to St. Louis last night.

The only change of any consequence was to relieve Mr. W. C. Clark, the manager, of a part of his work, on account of his health. Mr. Charles De Werthera, treasurer and city salesman, will assist in the management of the Paducah house, and Mr. H. L. Fisher will look after the city trade. Mr. Clark probably will be on the road part of the time, thus escaping the constant confinement of indoor work.

Freight Moving Fast.

Section hands are placing the tracks of the Illinois Central in the south in better condition, and freight is being pulled out of Paducah as fast as power can move it. Every official is exerting every energy to relieve the congested condition.

REMEMBERS

NAME OF WOMAN, WHO NURSED HIM DURING THE WAR.

Iowa Veteran Sends Flowers as Token to Her Daughter—Incident of the Struggle.

After forty-four years, Colonel Henry H. Rood, of Iowa, formerly a signal officer in the Union army, remembered the kindness of a Paducah woman, and while in the city with the delegation returning from Shiloh, he sent a bouquet to Mrs. Frank Hoover, of Ninth street and Broadway, whose mother Mrs. J. S. Hobbs, nursed him through a spell of fever, in 1862. He also called on her and his relation of her mother's treatment of him, indicated that the act of kindness was indelibly impressed on the veteran's memory.

SAW HIS FACE.

Mule Walked in to Garner's Furniture Store.

A mule hitched in front of the Garner Bros.' furniture store on South Third street broke loose yesterday afternoon late and seeing his reflection in a large mirror inside the store walked in. His head came in contact with the mirror and he withdrew temporarily in dismay. He became enraged at the audacity of the other mule in butting in and while preparing to make a charge a Billy Goat was caught by attaches of the furniture store. The mirror escaped damage.

WANT SCHEDULE CHANGED.

Because of Short Line Cars Pupils Are Tardy Sometimes.

Because public school teachers complain that the new schedule on the Broadway line makes children tardy a petition is being prepared, requesting the traction company to run long line cars between 6 and 9 a. m., 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., and 3 and 8 p. m.

TYPEWRITER STOLEN.

Superintendent Billington Victim at Court House.

J. S. Billington, superintendent of the county schools, is minus an Oliver typewriter valued at $75, and Detective T. J. Moore is working on the case. The machine was taken from the office at the court house within a week. It was locked in the office Tuesday and this morning when Mr. Billington opened his office it was gone. He thinks some one picked the lock or used a pass key.

RECORD

FOR HANDLING CARS HELD BY YARDS AT MOUNDS, ILL.

Superintendent Keith Looks for No Immediate Changes of Local Interest.

Mr. O. S. Keith, superintendent of transportation of the Illinois Central railroad, with headquarters in Chicago, was in the city on his private car this morning.

Mr. Keith, talking to a reporter for The Sun, said that there are no immediate changes proposed in the system which will interest Paducah.

Speaking of the congested condition of traffic caused by the washouts in the southern half of the system, Mr. Keith said that the record for handling cars was broken yesterday at Mounds, just below Cairo. Nine hundred and fifty cars were handled south out of that point in 18 hours yesterday. That would be equivalent to making up and sending out one train of 52 cars every hour. Forty-two cars to the train is about the biggest seen here so that more than one train an hour probably was handled there yesterday.

Mr. Keith went east on No. 102 this morning.

BOGUS CHECK

OFFERED AS PAYMENT FOR BOARD BILL FOR COUPLE.

Gets Man in Trouble and He Is Arrested in Owensboro—Detective After Him.

Detective Will Baker has gone to Owensboro, Ky., to bring back D. A. Bolton, a real estate dealer, who gave Charles Reed a worthless check for $48 for board for himself and wife. Bolton was arrested yesterday in Owensboro after futile efforts to settle the debt out of court.

Bolton and wife were in Paducah several weeks. The board bill came to $48. On leaving the husband paid over the check for that amount on the Henderson National bank. The bank reported no money on deposit in Bolton's name. Correspondence was entered into, ending in the warrant being issued. Yesterday Owensboro policeman were instructed from Paducah to arrest and hold Bolton. This was done and Detective Baker was sent last night to bring back the prisoner.

New York, Nov. 27.—M. Martin, proprietor of the Cafe Martin, has received the following cablegram from Paris:

My friend, Count de Cubsac, will call upon you to demand reparation with arms for your insult.

CASTELLANE.

The message refers to Mr. Martin's recent cablegram to Count Boni de Castellane offering the divorced husband of Anna Gould $10,000 a year to act as head waiter, now that his income is cut off. Mr. Martin says he is not sure whether some one is trying to scare him with a joke or Count Boni is really challenging him to a duel.

SHORT SESSION TO BE A BUSY-ONE

Philippine Tariff Will Be Discussed Again.

Three Treaties Are Hung Up in Senate, One Regarding Dominican Customs.

CUBA MUST BE CONSIDERED.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The approaching session of congress promises to be the busiest short session the national lawmakers have had for many a year. Ordinarily the closing session is devoted almost exclusively to the passage of the regular supply bills, as the measures carrying appropriations for the support of the government are called. But this year, in addition to parceling out "Uncle Sam's" income among the various departments, congress will have considerable important legislation left over from the long session to complete.

One of the unfinished acts of the last congress relates to the reduction of duties on importations from the Philippine islands. Last session the house passed such a measure, and it cut down to 25 per cent. of the Dingley rates the duties on sugar, tobacco and rice, and admitted all other articles free. But its path was blocked when it reached the senate, a majority of the Philippine committee being arrayed against it. The chairman, therefore, never reported it, and it still remains in committee.

The administration, particularly Secretary Taft, who regards the Philippines as his children, will make a determined effort this winter to induce the senate to come to the relief of the islands. Possibly a compromise will have to be affected on a basis of 50 per cent. of the Dingley rates, but distasteful as that would be to Mr. Taft, he would regard it as better than nothing.

Three Treaties Hung Up.
Hung up in the senate are three treaties that have been entered into by the administration. One of these is the arrangement by which the United States has been collecting the customs of the turbulent government of Santo Domingo in order that certain foreign creditors may be paid what rightfully belongs to them, and thereby save the Dominicans from bombardment.

The senate has been balking on this treaty for two years, but this government has gone on collecting the revenues, and by this time nearly enough money has been set aside to satisfy the claims of the Europeans.

The fight against the ratification will be renewed but the president is hopeful it will not prove successful. The two other treaties relate to the definition of the political status of the Isles of Pines, off the coast of Cuba, and to the new convention entered into by European powers with respect to Morocco.

Cuba Will Be There.

There is no doubt the Cuban situation will come in for a great deal of discussion in both the senate and the house, and the recent developments in the infant republic will furnish the topic of many pedantic speeches. The present international status of Cuba seems to be an enigma not only to foreign governments, but to officials of the United States as well, and the international lawyers in congress will try to strive to create some new tenets to fit the case.

It would not be surprising if some of the Democrats undertook to scold the president for intervening in Cuban affairs, and seeking to re-establish the government on a more stable foundation. But for every attack made on him on this account two or three champions will rise to defend his course.

Political Campaign Contributions.

The house will have to take up several matters that have been already acted upon by the senate. One in which considerable public interest has been manifested in the last year or two appertains to the question of corporation contributions to political committees. A bill prohibiting corporations from giving money for campaign purposes was passed by the senate last spring, but in view of the fact that both parties wanted to raise the sinews of war for the recent congressional campaign, the measure was hung up in committee.

Now that the election is over and another will not be due for two years, the party leaders may have no compunction about having it reported and passed. In this connection it is quite likely that the house and likewise the senate will also be called upon to consider a measure requiring publicity in the matter of campaign contributions so that people may know where the money came from and how it was expended.

A man's holiness is to be measured by the happiness he creates.

CIRCUMSTANCES FORCE MARRIAGE

Seminary Girl Climbs Out A Window For Dance.

YOUNG GALLANT PROPOSES

Denver Colo., Nov. 24.—What can a little girl do when she is locked out of a seminary on a chilly night and fears to knock at the door for admission?

This is a question which Miss Gertrude Eckols asked herself not very long ago as she stood beneath the window of her room. By means of a rope ladder she had taken her departure from that room to join her sweetheart, Robert LaGrange. He had been so good and affectionate towards her that she simply couldn't refuse his invitation to escort her to a dance given by his college fraternity. He was a student at Tetane university New Orleans. It was a rare treat for him to see his sweetheart, and it was seldom he saw her. Seminary rules are strict and they are interspersed with many "thou shalt nots."

Of course it was out of the question to obtain permission from the dean to go to the dance. That functionary was so severe a disciplinarian that he was sometimes referred to by the boys at the university near by as "boss of the hen house."

LaGrange is a bold youth. He sent word to Miss Eckols that it was quite necessary that she should attend the ball with him. He provided the means of escape. It was a ladder of rope and at the proper time, when all the seminary was quiet, and the other girls were dreaming sweet dreams, Miss Eckols fastened an end of the ladder to a bed post and quietly slipped out into the night. LaGrange was waiting and he took her to the ball. Swiftly the hours passed away, and then came the time for the journey home.

Stricken with dismay were the young couple when they observed that the rope ladder had disappeared from the window. All the doors were locked. Some one had played a joke, if such it might be called, upon the fair young student. There was no such thing as a real ladder to be found in the neighborhood.

For the young lady there was serious trouble in sight, but LaGrange being a man of resources and tact, took a wise view of the situation. He proposed an excellent way out of the difficulty. That was that they should hasten to the nearest preacher's house and become man and wife.

Miss Eckols thought the idea a good one, and so they were married. They arrived at the Warren Hotel in this city last evening and registered from New Orleans.

They dispatched announcements of the wedding to their parents, but up to last night had received no word from them. In the event that forgiveness is not forthcoming the young couple will journey to San Francisco, where the benedict has some friends.

"I'll be a waitress, if necessary," said Mrs. LaGrange.

"No, you won't," declared the young husband, placing a manly arm about his bride's neck. "I will do the work in this family."

"The ancients thought the world was flat," "Well, I don't blame them. They had no chorus girls, no cigarettes, no bridge, no society journals. It must have been in those days."

ADVERTISE IN THE SUN.

CHEAP LOW PRICED SMALL HOMES

Near city, fertile, high, dry land, in best neighborhood; Have just platted into lots of about five acres each the 240 acre (Williams) tract, joining the Pines lands on west. Bounded next to city by Perkins Creek and Pines lands between, Buckner Lane Road and Hinkleville Gravel Road. Has 4138 feet frontage on Buckner Lane Road, said road just graveled in front of this land. Has 757 feet front on Hinkleville Gravel Road, and plat gives 40 feet cross roads through the tract, so that each and every lot fronts either on these gravel roads or these newly opened roads. Most of the lots front at each end on these roads. No nicer land in McCracken county. The 20 acres front on Hinkleville road has nice grove of forest trees on it and lays so as to make ideal residence sites.

Price on the Hinkleville road front is $100.00 per acre, of which $10 acre cash and balance in monthly or quarterly payments running five years. All other lots $65 acre on same terms. While these prices are uniform, there is difference in desirability of lots and first customers get choice. Come and see plat and list men who have taken dozen lots before I could get the parcels staked off. For home or investment lots you lose opportunity if you fail to take this. On one lot is new 5-room house which is priced at $800 additional to cost of land at $65 acre.

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with Thanksgiving Matinee DePew-Burdette Stock Company. Saturday night and Matinee—Fantana.

Arthur Dunn Scores a Hit.

Arthur Dunn, the little comedian of "The Runaways" fame, is better known to Paducahans since his appearance here last night in Herbert Hall Winslow's "Little Joker." Mr. Dunn, besides being so diminutive as to attract amusing attention, is a comedian of exceptional ability, with a style all his own, a voice as bad as George Cohan's and a play that is meritorious. The music of "The Little Joker" is catchy, the chorus well trained and pretty and the principals above the average. Untoward circumstances marred the performance last night, but the audience understood. Miss Marie Glazier, the principal female support, is not in the caste, having recently recovered from typhoid fever, and three girls are in hospitals in the south, while the rest of the company suffers with bad colds. The audience was more than well pleased and little Arthur Dunn may be assured of big houses hereafter in Paducah.

DePew-Burdette Stock.

For a second engagement this season, bringing a reorganized cast, and some new plays, the DePew-Burdette Stock company, which broke the record for attendance at The Kentucky a month ago and the house record for popular price receipts on the week, opens tonight with "A Man of Mystery." This piece made a great hit during the previous engagements and the opening bill is in deference to the expressed wishes of many patrons of the popular price shows. Tonight, as usual ladies will be admitted free to reserved seats accompanying a paid admission. If the seats are secured before 5 o'clock.

"Fantana" Saturday.

There are numerous catchy musical numbers in "Fantana," all given with tasteful and beautiful stage environment. There is a song in the second act, "Just my Style" that is so simple that it is easily caught, and it has a lifting air that makes it the most popular number of the score. There are other songs, however, that go far to make "Fantana's" musical success. William Blaisdell plays the part of Hawkins, the valet, and it is a rich part as he is seen in his various characters, mostly ludicrous. Little Georgia Bryton, who long ago won a distinctive place in musical comedy, is a large factor in the fun. The other roles are in the hands of such well known players as George Whyte, Charles Burham, Joseph Miller, James McArthur, Henry Dyer, Miss Lily, Hazel Sellman, Marie Atkinson, Marie Hampton, Jane Gray, Virginia Millman, Frances Sears and a chorus of fifty. Fantana will be presented here for the first time with matinee and evening performances.

Richard Mansfield will play "Pere Gynt" on his engagement in Paducah. The overwhelming majority of answers to Manager Roberts' query was for the new production.

Blanche Walsh Is Married.

WHITE LEADER

OF BAND OF HEAD HUNTERS IN PHILIPPINES.

Frank Cook Owns Big Hemp Plantation and Savages Are His Willing Slaves.

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—Frank C. Cook has arrived here from Manila, a passenger on the United States army transport Logan. He comes back to his native land after a seven years' sojourn there among the wild tribes of Mindanao. He brings with him stories savages who looked upon a white man for the first time when they saw him.

Cook seven years ago was a reckless adventurer, a soldier of fortune. He is now a leader of a tribe of willing savages, owner of a big plantation and a man of wealth.

One day pushed aside the jungle undergrowth to gaze into the faces of a horde of painted savages he was startled. But the savages were more frightened than he. They fled at sight of him, it took some time, but finally Cook became friendly with the timid tribesmen.

Eventually he became their leader. He led them in their tribal fights. He adjusted their differences; he entered into their customs. But he refused to eat dog. Instead, he subsisted on herbs and vegetables. He built a small village and in the end taught the natives husbandry. Now Cook is the owner of a hemp plantation and the natives are his willing slaves.

Miss Frankie McKane, the heroine, was thrown from the buggy and knocked unconscious. The audience became panicky and three women fainted.

RIVER NEWS

River Stages.

Cairo	36.2	0.5	rise

Cincinnati	26.5	2.4	fall
Evansville	30.0	1.2	fall
Florence	14.8	0.8	fall

Louisville	9.7	0.5	fall
Mt. Carmel	12.6	0.6	fall
Nashville	20.4	4.2	fall
Pittsburg	4.3	0.5	fall
Davis Island Dam—Missing.
St. Louis	9.0	0.1	fall
Mt. Vernon	29.2	0.8	fall
Paducah	32.8	0.5	rise

The rise in the river here in the last 24 hours indicates that a fall may be expected in the next few days. The gauge registered a rise of only 0.5 since yesterday, the stage this morning being 32.8. Business at the wharf this morning was fair.

The Scotia left today. Captain Peck in command, for the first trip that boat has made in these waters. The Scotia went up the Cumberland river after a tow of ties. When the Scotia came to Paducah from Iowa several months ago, she was a worn out side-wheeled boat. At the docks, she was transformed into a modern stern wheel towboat.

The Lydia arrived today from the Tennessee river with a tow of ties.

The Martha Hennen left this morning for Cincinnati with two barges of slaves.

The Russell Lord left this morning for the Ohio river after a tow of ties for the Ayer-Lord Tie company.

The towboats are experiencing much trouble in loading the ties during the extremely high water. When the river is low, the ties can be loaded on the barges, by sliding them down the banks on a chute. Now the river is too high to make a chute and the ties have to be "toted" into the barges. As labor is none to plentiful with the towboats, this is accomplished only by much profanity and considerable hard work.

For some reason unknown to the local river observer, the report of the stage at Davis Island Dam has not been sent for two weeks, in the daily bulletin of river stages.

The Georgia Lee will leave Cincinnati tomorrow for Memphis arriving here Saturday.

The Clyde arrived this morning at 4 o'clock and left at 7:30 for Joppa to unload lumber. The Clyde will lie up on the return from Joppa.

The Chattanooga will leave Louisville Thursday for this point, and will then proceed to Chattanooga, where she will enter the Chattanooga-Cairo trade as forecasted in this column several months ago. Mr. B. Berryman, the local pilot did not go to Louisville as expected, after the Chattanooga.

The Joe Fowler brought two fine new skiffs for the Lydia Monday.

The Saltito will arrive today from the Tennessee river and proceed to St. Louis with a load of lumber.

The Dick Fowler had the "Little Joker" company on the trip to Cairo this morning.

The John S. Hopkins was today's Evansville packet.

The Gate City will receive a new wheel at the dry docks and may be sold to Paducah parties who are dickering for it.

One of the "Model" barges of several brought from Vicksburg to the dry docks to be repaired, was raised out today. A "Model" barge differs from the regulation barge in that one end is pointed like a steamboat. They usually are much better built

The George Cowling did not make a trip today.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio at Evansville, will continue falling and at an increasing rate during the next several days. At Mt. Vernon will commence falling tonight. At Paducah and Cairo, will continue rising during the next 12 to 36 hours, then fall. The maximum stage at Cairo will be close to 36.5 feet.

The Tennessee at Florence, will fall rapidly. At Johnsonville, will continue rising during the next 24 hours then fall.

The Mississippi from Chester to above Cairo no material change during the next 24 hours.

E. H. WILFORD SUCCEEDS.

Captain Henry Smith Retires From Aberdeen Company.

Captain Henry F. Smith, who for the last three years has been the manager and secretary in this city of the Aberdeen Coal and Mining company, of Bowling Green, has sold out his interest in that company and will leave tomorrow to reside in Bowling Green. His family is there. The Aberdeen Coal and Mining company own the towboats, Wilford and I. N. Hook, which do a general towing business out of this city. Mr. E. H. Wilford son of I. B. Wilford, the owner of the boats, has arrived from Bowling Green to take the position vacated by Captain Smith. He will have charge of the business of the company in Paducah.

SHOULD you have the misfortune to have to buy anything in this line, we are closing out the entire line of the Paducah Undertaking Company at cost. This means your bill cut half in two. Embalming and regular service rendered day or night.

DAILY THOUGHT.

"What is the courageous man?"

The one who does his honest best and takes the consequences."

THE BOARD AND THE DOCTORS.

Business men on the board of public works make rules governing swinging signs for the protection of life and property and compel the business men to conform to them. We build sewers for the protection of health and compel property owners to pay for them. We pass laws governing the construction of buildings for the protection of property and compel contractors to comply with them. Now, that the general council has enacted an ordinance for the protection of the public health in the treatment of tuberculosis, it does seem that the board of health ought to compel the doctors to conform to it, especially since the ordinance was enacted at the suggestion of the board. Members of the board of health said that tuberculosis is infectious and no one doubts that it is. Assuming the board to be right in its characterization of the disease, the ordinance is wise and unobjectionable. It provides that the physician must report all cases coming under his notice, and when a patient is removed from a house, the house must be fumigated by the health officer.

Such simple requirements are enforced in cases of scarlet fever, small-pox and diphtheria, and the public has come to look on such proceedings

as usual and necessary. Tuberculosis is more dreadful, more certainly fatal and more prevalent than any of the other infectious or contagious diseases, and there is no reason why the families of the patients should be squeamish in the one case and not in the other, nor why the physician should be careless in the one case and not in the other. The general council promptly did everything the board of health asked, and now it is up to the board of health to see that its officers perform their duty. Of course, it will be necessary to notify the physicians as to their duty in the premises. Then if they do not obey the law, the board should treat them just as it did property owners, who did not cut their weeds—present them in police court and fine them.

Away from the spot light and the music, stripped of dramatic environments and the clap-trap of stage idealism, an act of heroism goes into the make-up of a day's events, and is passed on without a moment's consideration. It took a man two hundred miles from Paducah to appreciate the full measure of nerve which prompted Riley Pitman to catch a rabid dog in his hands and slay it with no other instruments than those with which the Lord endowed him.

The whole performance was one so unusual on reflection, and so perfect in its execution that it stands out as a type of physical courage. It matters not whether Riley Pitman's deed is acceptable under the terms by which Carnegie medals are distributed. None of their wearers can lay claim to a deed more replete with uncommon virtues that make uncommon saints.

marked with the left hind foot of a grave yard rabbit.

To be found dead drunk in an alley

CALLS SHAW "BLATANT IDIOT"

Minister Tells Actors Playwright Is

Literary Scandal of Year.

New York, Nov. 27.—Rev. John

Talbot Smith referred to George

Bernard Shaw as a "blatant idiot"

at a discussion of Mr. Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra" at the regular

Sunday evening entertainment given by the Playgoers' club in the Hotel

Astor this evening.

"In referring to Mr. Shaw in that way," he said, "I simply speak of him from a theological point of view.

Beyond question he has wit and is clever, but, believing as he does that man ends with death, he cannot attain those heights in the literary art which he seeks but never attains.

He is the literary scandal of the day."

Miss Adeline Bourne, who takes the part of Cleopatra's nurse in the play, opened the meeting with an address descriptive of the various characters. She spoke eulogistically of Mr. Shaw.

Relief for Rheumatism.

These damp days are hard on people afflicted with rheumatism, and relief is sought in all sorts of remedies.

There is no doubt in the minds of people who have suffered with the dread disease and those who have studied it closely that probably more relief can be secured from the Osteopathic treatment than any other.

Of course, some chronic cases won't yield to any treatment, but instances of cases of seven and eight years' standing yielding to three months' treatments can be cited. If you are suffering of rheumatism, I should like to discuss your case with you, examine you and tell you what I can do for you. With the dry hot pathy I am having very gratifying success with people you know well.

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN Author of "The Sowers," "Roden's Corner," "From One Generation to Another," Etc.

Copyright, 1896, by HARPER & BROTHERS

She sat down in her usual chair while the moonlight, red and glowing, made a pattern on the floor and on her white dress with the shadows of the creepers. The sea was very loud that night, rising and falling like the breath of some huge sleeping creature.

Jocelyn Gordon fell into a reverie. Life was very dull at Loango. There was too much time for thought and too little to think about. This girl had only the past, and her past was all comprised in a few months—the few months still known at Loango as the simian year. She had lapsed into a bad habit of thinking that her life was over, that the daylight of it had waned and that there was nothing left now but the gray remainder of the evening. She was wondering now why it had all come, why there had been any daylight at all. Above these thoughts she wondered why the feeling was still in her heart that Jack Meredith had not gone out of her life forever. There was no reason why she should ever meet him again. He was, so far as she knew, married to Millicent Chyne more than a year ago, although she had never seen the announcement of the wedding. He had drifted into Loango and into her life by the merest accident, and now before they heard his footstep on the gravel. By that time Jocelyn had heard the whole story. She had asked one or two questions which somehow cast a different light upon the narrative, and she had listened to the answers with a grave, judicial little smile—the smile of a judge whose verdict was preordained, whose knowledge had nothing to gain from evidence.

Because she loved him she took his story and twisted it and turned it to a shape of her own liking. Those items which he had considered important she passed over as trifles; the trifles she magnified into the cornerstones upon which the edifice was built. She set the lame story upon its legs, and it stood upright. She believed what he had never told, and much that he related she chose to discredit—because she loved him. She perceived motives where he assured her there were none; she recognized the force of circumstance where he took the blame to himself—because she loved him. She maintained that the past was good; that he could not have acted differently; that she would not have had it otherwise—because she loved him.

And who shall say that she was wrong? Jack went out to meet Maurice Gordon when they heard his footstep, and as they walked back to the house he told him. Gordon was quite honest about it.

"I hoped," he said, "when I ran against you in the woods that that was why you had come back. Nothing could have given me greater happiness. Hang it, I am glad, old chap!"

They sat far into the night arranging their lives. Jack was nervously anxious to get back to England. He could not rid his mind of the picture he had seen as he left his father's presence to go and take his passage to Africa—the picture of an old man sitting in a stiff-backed chair before a dying fire. Moreover, he was afraid of Africa. The irritability of Africa had laid his hand upon him almost as soon as he had set his foot upon its torrid strand. He was afraid of the climate for Jocelyn; he was afraid of it for himself. The happiness that comes late must be firmly held to. Nothing must be forgotten to secure it or else it may slip between the fingers at the last moment.

Those who have snatched happiness late in life can tell of a thousand details carefully attended to, a whole existence laid out in preparation for it, of health fostered, small pleasures relinquished, days carefully spent.

Jack Meredith was nervously apprehensive that his happiness might even now slip through his fingers. Truly, climatic influence is a strange and wonderful thing. It was Africa that had done this, and he was conscious of it. He remembered Victor Durand's strange outburst on their first meeting a few miles below Meala on the Ogowe river, and the remembrance only made him the more anxious that Jocelyn and he should turn their backs upon the accursed west coast forever.

Before they went to bed that night it was all arranged. Jack Meredith had carried his point. Maurice and Jocelyn were to sail with him for England by the first boat. Jocelyn and he compiled a telegram to be sent off first thing by a native boat to St. Paul de Loanda. It was addressed to Sir John Meredith, London, and signed "Meredith, Loango." The text of it was:

"I bring Jocelyn home by first boat. And the last words, like the first, must be of an old man in London. We found him in the midst of a brilliant assembly. We leave him alone. We leave him lying stiffly on his solemn four post bed, with his keen, proud face turned fearfully toward his Maker. His lips are still. They wear a smile which even in death is slightly cynical. On the table at his bedside lies a submarine telegram from Africa. It is unopened."

THE END.

"You!" she exclaimed.

that the simian plateau had been finally abandoned there was no reason why any of the original finders should come to Loango again.

And the creepers were pushed aside by one who knew the method of their growth. A silver glory of moonlight fell on the veranda floor, and the man of whom she was thinking stood before her.

"You!" she exclaimed.

"Yes."

She rose, and they shook hands. They stood looking at each other for a few moments, and a thousand things that had never been said seemed to be understood between them.

"Why have you come?" she asked abruptly.

"To tell you a story."

She looked up with a sort of half smile, as if she suspected some pleasantry of which she had not yet detected the drift.

"A long story," he explained, "which has not even the merit of being amusing. Please sit down again."

She obeyed him.

The curtain of hanging leaves and flowers had fallen into place again. The shadowed tracery was on her dress and on the floor once more.

He stood in front of her and told her his story, as Sir John had suggested. He threw no romance into it, attempted no extenuation, but related the plain, simple facts of the last few years with the semi-cynical suggestion of humor that was sometimes his. And the cloak of pride that had fallen upon his shoulders made him hide much that was good, while he dragged forward his own shortcomings. She listened in silence. At times there hovered round her lips a smile. It usually came when he represented himself in a bad light, and there was a suggestion of superior wisdom in it as if she knew something of which he was ignorant.

He was never humble. It was not a confession. It was not even an explanation, but only a story; a very lame story indeed, which gained nothing by the telling. And he was not the hero of it.

And all came about as wise old Sir John Meredith had predicted. It is not our business to record what Jocelyn said. Women—the best of them—have some things in their hearts which can only be said once to one person. Men cannot write them down; pictures cannot print them.

The lame story was told to the end, and at the end it was accepted. When Sir John's name was mentioned—when the interview in the library of the great London house was briefly touched upon—Jack saw the flutter of a small lace pocket handkerchief, and at no other time. The slate was wiped clean, and it almost seemed that Jocelyn preferred it thus with the scratches upon it where the writing had been.

Maurice Gordon did not come back in an hour. It was nearly 10 o'clock sembly. We leave him alone. We leave him lying stiffly on his solemn four post bed, with his keen, proud face turned fearfully toward his Maker. His lips are still. "BILLY" BROWN.

Now and then one runs across human documents that are literature. A young girl named "Billy" Brown wrote some letters to a young fellow named Chester Gillette, whom she loved not wisely but too well, up in New York state, that are now being introduced in court at the trial of Gillette on the charge of murdering the girl. They are literature. They are not models of eloquence, they are not chiseled language, they simply are letters with heart in them. They are described as having brought tears to the eyes of cold, staid veterans of the bar, practitioners who have faced many a pathetic scene, and the thing sounds true enough. It is not possible to believe that a girl who wrote as "Billy" wrote was depraved, even though she sinned. Thomas Hardy affixed to "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" the subtitle: "The Story of a Pure Woman." "Billy" was not less pure than Tess. Her letters have the ring of a true soul. They tell, without hysteria, but with the horror of innocence and the energy of a sincere love, the whole dread story of a young girl's shame; her sense of humiliation; her plea for consolation and aid; her bravery and her absolute confidence in the brute who had imposed upon so sensitive a nature. She begs him to come to her. She cannot understand his indifference. His cruel notes wound her cruelly. We find her writing:

"Chester, I don't suppose you will ever know how I regret being all this trouble to you. My whole life is ruined, and, in a measure, yours is too. Of course, it's worse for me than for you. The world and you, too, may think I am the only one to blame; but, somehow, I can't, just simply can't, I think I am, Chester."

At last it is arranged for her to go away, and before she comes to him she writes her last letter:

"This is the last letter I can write, dear. I feel as though you were not coming. Perhaps that is not right, but I cannot help feeling that I am never going to see you again. . . ."

"I am about crazy now. I have been bidding good-bye to some places today. There are so many nooks, dear, and all of them so dear to me. I have lived here nearly all my life."

"First, I said good-bye to the old Spring house, with the great masses of green moss; then to the apple tree where we had our playhouse; then the Beehive, a cute little house in the orchard, and of course, to all of the neighbors that have mended my dresses from a little tot up to save me thrashings I really deserved."

"Oh, dear, you don't realize what all of this is to me; I know I shall never see any of them again, and mamma, great Heavens! how I do love Mamma. I don't know what I shall do without her. She is never cross and she always helps me so much. Sometimes I think if I could tell mamma, but I can't. She has trouble enough as it is, and I couldn't break her heart like that. If I come back dead—perhaps if she does know she won't be angry with me."

Gillette met "Billy." They went out on the lake for a row. He came back without her.

It will be hard for a jury to resist the superb eloquence of "Billy's" letters. It will be hard for a fiction writer to beat them.—Courier-Journal.

KODAK SQUAD

Will Photograph Rounders in Chicago Red Light.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Stillwell, brigadier and head of the Salvation Army rescue work in Chicago, and who has been engaged in slum work in this city for the past 20 years, has several ideas as to the best ways to rid Chicago of its "red light" districts. In an address in the Fourth Presbyterian church last night she suggested a "Kodak Squad." "We must use extraordinary means to meet extraordinary conditions," said Mrs. Stillwell. "I think one of the most expedient ways of putting notorious places out of commission would be the free use of a kodak to take pictures of people found frequenting such places."

The man who has failed after an honest effort isn't the chap who has to make excuses for what happened.

SHAKE WELL IN A BOTTLE

Highly Recommended For Kidney and Bladder Troubles

How to Find Out if the Kidneys Are Affected and What to Do.

TO BE MIXED AT HOME.

A well known local physician is authority for the statement that there are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than to any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent, painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach diseases, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

The physicians for the insurance companies always carefully examine and report on the condition of the urine. It is a certain sign of sickness or health of the human body.

A test of the urine should be made by every man and woman at least once each year. A simple test is to void a small quantity of urine in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning, if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white, fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and if desirable the sufferer can mix it at home. Any good prescription pharmacy has the ingredients, which are harmless and inexpensive: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

FINE DOGS.

Will J. Dicke Has Kennel of Thoroughbreds.

Paducah will in the course of two years have one of the finest pit trained bull terrier dog kennels in the south, and already the start made is an excellent one. The owner of the kennel is Will J. Dicke, the popular tailor, and he has some of the finest bred dogs ever shown in Paducah.

Dicke started last year. He bought dogs from Kirksville, Mo., where the finest kennel in the west is located. Two of his dogs cost $100. From these he has bred pups which have sold for $25 and $30 each. He is an expert dog trainer.

Sam Jones.

Against vice in all its forms, he brought every weapon known to the armory of right, and he used them with a force and skill and tireless energy which made him the most powerful evangel of Christ that recent history has known. Brilliant, witty, wise, eloquent, profound in his knowledge of the human heart, no man ever faced an audience who could so easily master it. From laughter to tears, from indifference to enthusiasm, from levity to intense emotion, he could lead the multitude at his will. Under his magnetism and will power the brazen libertine blushed for shame, the hardened criminal trembled in fear, smug respectability saw its shortcomings, sham Christians forgot to be self-complacent, social hypocrites fell upon their knees and the miser opened his purse.—Tom Watson.

EDITORIAL PRAISE.

Under the head "A Good Example for Young Men," Thursday's Baltimore Sun says editorially of a former Paducah boy, who has many relatives and friends in his boyhood home, some words that are the highest praise that can be said of any man:

"If Mr. Calvin W. Hendrick is as good an engineer as he is as a public speaker, Baltimore will have an admirable drainage system." It cannot but be gratifying to the people of Baltimore that they have employed for the greatest engineering work they have ever undertaken a man who stands for righteousness, who is a moral force in the community and whose utterances are for good citizenship and clean and decent living. Mr. Hendrick has made several public addresses since he came to Baltimore, and in all of them he spoke for religion, for morals, for honesty. Monday night he addressed the Men's Association of Brown Memorial Presbyterian church, and gave utterance to sentiments that will do good to the people and especially to young men.

The benefit of this kind of Christian talk coming from a man of affairs, a man who is versed in the ways of the world, is incalculable. There is too much of a tendency, and it is to be feared that the tendency is increasing, to leave religion to women. In this way many foolish boys grow up with the vague idea in their heads that it is effeminate to be religious. They have never read history, and are, perhaps, unaware that the world's heroes have been those champions of the faith who never knew fear; who subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, quenched the violence of fire, waxed valiant in fight and turned to flight the armies of the aliens; that the soldiers of the Cross gladly subjected themselves, in order to establish their faith, to cruel, mocking and scourgings, bonds and imprisonment; that they were stoned, they were sawn asunder, they were tempted were slain with the sword. And yet we have boys growing up with the idea that these heroes were effeminate and those who follow them are effeminate! Nothing can impress upon young men more clearly than such addresses as that of Mr. Hendrick the truth that religion is strong and manly, and that he who is afraid upon fitting occasions to profess in public his faith in religion and his loyalty to God is a weakling and a coward. It is also opportune in this time of madness for money to tell people that a good name is more to be preferred than riches. When General Lee surrendered the weary remnant of his great army at Appomattox he had not a roof of his own to shelter his wife and children. At once offers of employment came to him, and one from an insurance company of a large salary with but little work. They told him that his name was not for sale and he accepted a salary of $600 a year to teach boys of Virginia how to be true and loyal citizens, affording them as fine an example of knight hood without fear and without reproach as perhaps the world has ever seen.

"Mr. Hendrick came to Baltimore as a stranger to our people only a short time ago. He possesses the adaptability characteristic of the southern people, to whom he belongs, and quickly identified himself with the community, standing for righteousness and good citizenship."

SULLIVAN FOR SENATOR.

Illinois Democrats Will Give Bryan a Slap.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—The Democrats of Illinois—that is, the majority and controlling faction—plan giving William J. Bryan a slap by conferring the honor of the Democratic caucus nomination for United States senator upon Roger C. Sullivan in January. It is argued that such a culmination to the 1906 campaign would convey to the eastern sympathizers of Mr. Sullivan in the Bryan embroglio the assurance that the Illinois Democracy still recognizes the national committee as its de facto leader and break the news to Mr. Bryan that the state Democracy believed in Illinois for Illinoisans.

ALCOHOL HARMFUL.

In the Treatment of Consumption,
Says Dr. Crothers.

New York, Nov. 27.—The contention that alcohol is beneficial in the treatment of tuberculosis was declared to be fallacious by Dr. T. D.
Crothers, superintendent of Walnut Lodge hospital, Hartford, Conn., in an address before the International Congress on Tuberculosis in this city.
He declared that, on the contrary, alcohol is really more dangerous than the disease it is given to correct.

Miss Emily Noble, of California offered a few practical suggestions for the prevention of the spread of tuberculosis among children.

"I had the good fortune in 1900 to be sent from San Francisco to Madras to make certain investigations on light and X-ray therapeutics with a great deal of machinery and apparatus," said she. "I found that, in India, with a population of 450,000 the children are singularly free from tuberculosis because they are taught to breathe properly as a daily exercise. And this is in a country where there is great poverty and great scarcity of water."

VIOLATING LAWS IN THIS COUNTY

Game Birds Being Shipped To Louisville Hotel.

Anonymous Communications Received By Members of Gun Club in Paducah.

WILL INVESTIGATE MATTER

The game laws of the state of Kentucky are being violated in Paducah according to information received by several members of the Paducah Gun club and steps are being taken to have the matter brought into the courts. This morning neatly typewritten letters were received by several members of the gun club. In each instance the letter is the same the sender evidently desiring to find some one who will take up the matter.

The letter says:
"Knowing you to be a member of the Paducah Gun club and wanting to see justice done I write this for your information. Mr. — is shipping quail to a hotel in Louisville regularly, last shipment of 200 birds only two days ago. Mr. — of — street, also is buying these birds from the country and shipping them to Louisville. I think these might be investigated, and hope the gun club will prosecute such offenders. I am in a position to know these things but not to act openly. Very truly yours, V. Q."

"We will see that the information is given to the game warden, T. J.
Moore. The grand jury will meet December 2. We desire that all persons be prosecuted, and will lend our aid," declared a member of the gun club this morning.

There is a heavy penalty attached to selling game birds. It tempts persons to go into the wholesale game business, and reduces the number of birds.

COMMON SENSE IN IMMIGRATION

Mr. Edward Brobston, of Jacksonville, Fla., who contributed much to the success of the meeting at Savannah, Ga., which resulted in the organization of the Georgia Immigration association, proposes to be active in the organization of a similar body for Florida. He is deeply interested in the movement for immigration to the south and is enthusiastic over the notable results of the experiment of landing at Charleston nearly 500 thrifty immigrants from the north of Europe and their distribution throughout South Carolina. He went to Charleston for the purpose of witnessing the disembarkation of the newcomers, and in an interview in the Savannah News, in which he gives credit to South Carolina and its commissioner of immigration, Mr. E.
J. Watson, for the initiative step due to the eminently practical suggestion of the Charleston News and Courier, he says:

But there is danger accompanying this immigration. These people are intelligent, and many of them are men of means and resources. If they do not find things as they were represented, they are the kind to make conditions known, and for this reason there is an element to be considered which would not accompany the lower class. On the other hand, if this experiment proves successful and if they are pleased, it will mean the immigration of hundreds to follow them.

I think the states should work separately, though in co-operation.
We will have the benefit of the experience of South Carolina. We will be able to avoid the mistakes which have been made, but at the same time we have South Carolina to thank for stepping out and taking the first shot at it. We all need immigration just as much as South Carolina does.

Every student of the immigration problem will agree with Mr. Brobston's argument that success in immigration work depends essentially upon truth in setting forth the advantages of the state to which one would attract settlers and kindness and liberality in the treatment of the newcomers. Naturally their first impressions of new surroundings will be most lasting and most influential in determining whether they are to be joined by others whom they left at home. The excitement of their change of abode is likely to render them peculiarly sensitive. The utmost consideration, therefore must be shown them. For the best immigration agent in the world is a contented migrant.

There may be with profit a certain degree of co-operation among the southern states in immigration work —co-operation for the prevention of the unauthorized use of the southern states in the promotion of the work of immigration agencies inside or outside the south, and of the furtherance of schemes at the expense of the

She began taking the medicine and before the first bottle was used she was much better, being able to walk and to work.

We are going to continue the treatment, and I want everybody to know how much we have been benefited. I am a patrolman on the city police force.

Signed: CHARLES P. METCALF,
